

Higher Education Field Academies (HEFA) 2012

Information Afternoon

Starts 2:45pm on Friday 24th February

at the McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research, Downing Site, Cambridge

We at the University of Cambridge are keen to establish contact with staff at your school to ensure they know how the HEFA programme run by Access Cambridge Archaeology (ACA) can give your students the experience, enthusiasm and encouragement to apply to top universities, including Oxbridge. This is exactly what HEFA has been doing successfully since 2005, and we are keen this achievement should not falter in these most challenging times for young people, made no easier to navigate by recent changes to University tuition fees and the demise of government programmes such as Aimhigher.

In order to explain the HEFA programme to those unfamiliar with it, ACA are hosting an information afternoon at the University of Cambridge to brief staff from schools across East Anglia about HEFA's aims and achievements. This will start at 2.45pm on Friday 24th February and will be an excellent opportunity for your staff to learn more about what we can offer, to ask questions, to meet with our team and also meet with staff from other schools in the eastern region.

The afternoon will involve a presentation from Dr Carenza Lewis, Director of ACA, followed by refreshments and an informal opportunity to talk to us about involving your school.

For more information and to book a place e-mail ACA at access@arch.cam.ac.uk